The date on which the petition under 37 CFR 1.136(a) and the appropriate extension fee have been filed is the date for purposes of determining the period of extension and the corresponding amount of the fee. The appropriate extension fee under 37 CFR 1.17(a) is calculated from: (1) the expiration date of the shortened statutory period for reply originally set in the final Office action; or (2) as set forth in (b) above, if checked. Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of the final rejection, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. Continuation of 11. does NOT place the application in condition for allowance because: Applicant's arguments do not overcome the rejections in the final office action. Applicant argues that Smyers does not anticipate claims 1 or 7. This argument is not persuasive for at least the reasons given in the final office action. Specifically, Smyers discloses real time communication with control communication (paragraphs 34-37). Applicant's argument that Smyers uses separate isochronous channels and therefore does not affect the patentability of claim 7 is unpersuasive since the claims do not require a certain number of channels. The word "channel" is not in claim 1 or claim 7. The claims only recite "isochronous data communication", they do not require this communication to be performed on only a single channel. Thus the request for reconsideration fails to place the claims in condition for allowance. See the final office action for a more detailed explanation.
